WHY NOW?

The global human challenge is between light and darkness.

What is the purpose of life? What does victory look like? Is there a supernatural being on this planet? Where is our hero?

The Bearth TV Series is based in actual truth. The story is real. All the events are real. The cataclysms have either already happened, or are possible. It will reach the SciFy and the Esoteric audience like nothing ever filmed.

Target Market

Target Setting

The goal of the Bearth TV Series is to create a fantastical setting, out of this world, or futuristic but still grounded in some sort of reality that the audience can relate to.

Target Cinematography

The Bearth TV Series will utilize special effects, CGI and other techniques to create amazing worlds and creatures that would be impossible to create in real life. The small screen has become the medium of choice for launching new SciFy thrillers.

Target Message

The Bearth TV Series will present scientific support for the rapture of an entire planet, and not just the humans living upon it. The battle between good and evil is plausible and yet supernatural. We are eternal beings having a mortal experience.

Target Audience

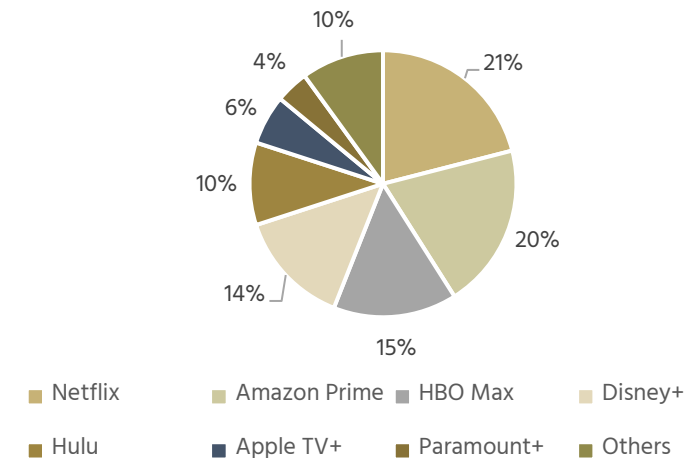

- People who love high tech
- People who love imaginary worlds
- People who enjoy futuristic stories
- People who like adventure stories
- People looking for an escape from reality

Streaming Market Share

Film and TV studios have not remained static over the past decade. AT&T (owner of WarnerMedia & HBO), Comcast (with NBC), CBS and Disney have all launched streaming services to compete with Netflix. In the UK, ITV and Channel 4 have launched streaming apps.

This has caused, at least in the US, Netflix and Amazon to invest heavier into original content, as many of the shows and films owned by film and TV studios have been removed from their service, such as The Office, Parks and Recreation and the Marvel movies

The background of the slide is a cosmic scene featuring two Earths. On the left, a dark, cracked, and seemingly dead planet. On the right, a vibrant, blue, and healthy planet. A thin, glowing bridge of light connects the two planets. The background is filled with a colorful nebula in shades of blue, purple, and red, with stars visible in the distance.

LOGLINE

Planet Earth is alive. It is about to give birth. Will President Riker and his unlikely team of heroes save the souls of humanity from the Grand Division and the Angel?

STORYLINE

Bearth is a true story of Earth.

In ancient times, when the more part of mankind chose wickedness, the earth would have an allergic reaction. A volcano, earthquake, or an ice age would rise up and put the race back down to a few tribes to begin again.

Now, there are 8 billion humans alive and conscious at one time on Earth. She will not destroy them. She will not release more of her bounty to them.

As long-prophecied, she will give birth to a new Earth. The higher vibrational planet will head home, across the Milky Way, and take the higher vibrational children with her.

The dark angel Semyaza has captured the souls of more than half the humans on Earth. They will remain on the rock and metal planet in orbit around our Sun, and they intend to let the new Earth return home alone.

SYNOPSIS

For over a century, America has groomed and placed presidents to further the dark angel's plan. One party. One script. Rule by law and weapons.

Robert Riker lost his wife to cancer and vowed to try to save the country from destruction. Running his own campaign by answering all the questions on his YouTube channel, he had built up an enormous following; one the Globalists knew nothing about.

During the final debate, the two groomed candidates get into a fist fight on global TV. Thousands of streaming cell phone feeds later, Riker was written in as the new president.

Secret Service Agent Ezzat Hadid, a member of an ancient sect, unlocks the secret for Riker. The cataclysms begin.

Plotline

Season One

The Planet

Planet Earth actually meets the criteria of a living being with its own consciousness. She has a symbiotic relationship with the sentient beings living upon her.

When humans are mostly good, the planet releases her bounty. When humans are evil, the planet has an allergic reaction and destroys the race back down to a few tribes.

Now, there are 8 billion souls alive at once. Half are good. Half are evil. Rather than wiping them out, she divides in two; one higher vibration and one lower.

The Human Race

Prophecies have a way of showing up at exactly the right time; never late. In times like these, simple and unlikely heroes come forth to save the world.

Robert Riker is elected as a write-in candidate for president. The first major cataclysm strikes the Gulf of Mexico, and he is informed the rapture is beginning and that he must serve as the leader of higher Adam.

A series of battles and daring escapes, the heroes are forged for a major battle at Camp David.

Plotline

Season Two

The Planet

Earthquakes, lightning jumping across space and massive military movements sweep the planet.

Ancient Nephilim (fallen angels) work an evil plan from deep within the mountains to capture the souls of all mankind. Rules written from the foundation of the universe must be followed in order to win.

Mecca, Vegas, and other major cities disappear in a blaze of hot plasma. The vibrations of Earth are dividing into two Schuman Resonances.

The Human Race

Boris gets in a fight outside the Tinkoff restaurant in Kazakhstan to defend his wife, scarring his attacker. They retaliate by blowing up his home with his beautiful wife inside. The former Soviet bureaucrat forms his revenge.

The ensuing nuclear plot carries the viewer through the hate that condemns and the love that saves the human soul.

Riker's unlikely team of heroes come together to help him save the world from darkness, but at what cost?

Plotline

Season Three

The Planet

The two planets have come apart. The higher Earth begins drifting slowly out of orbit toward its ancient home through the dark rift in the Milky Way. It leaves the Sun and the Moon behind.

The old Earth made of metal and rock is still in orbit around the Sun next to its cold, lifeless Moon.

The Nephilim makes one final attempt to wipe out all life on the higher Earth by enlisting the assistance of enormous alien mother ships filled with fighter-bombers.

The Human Race

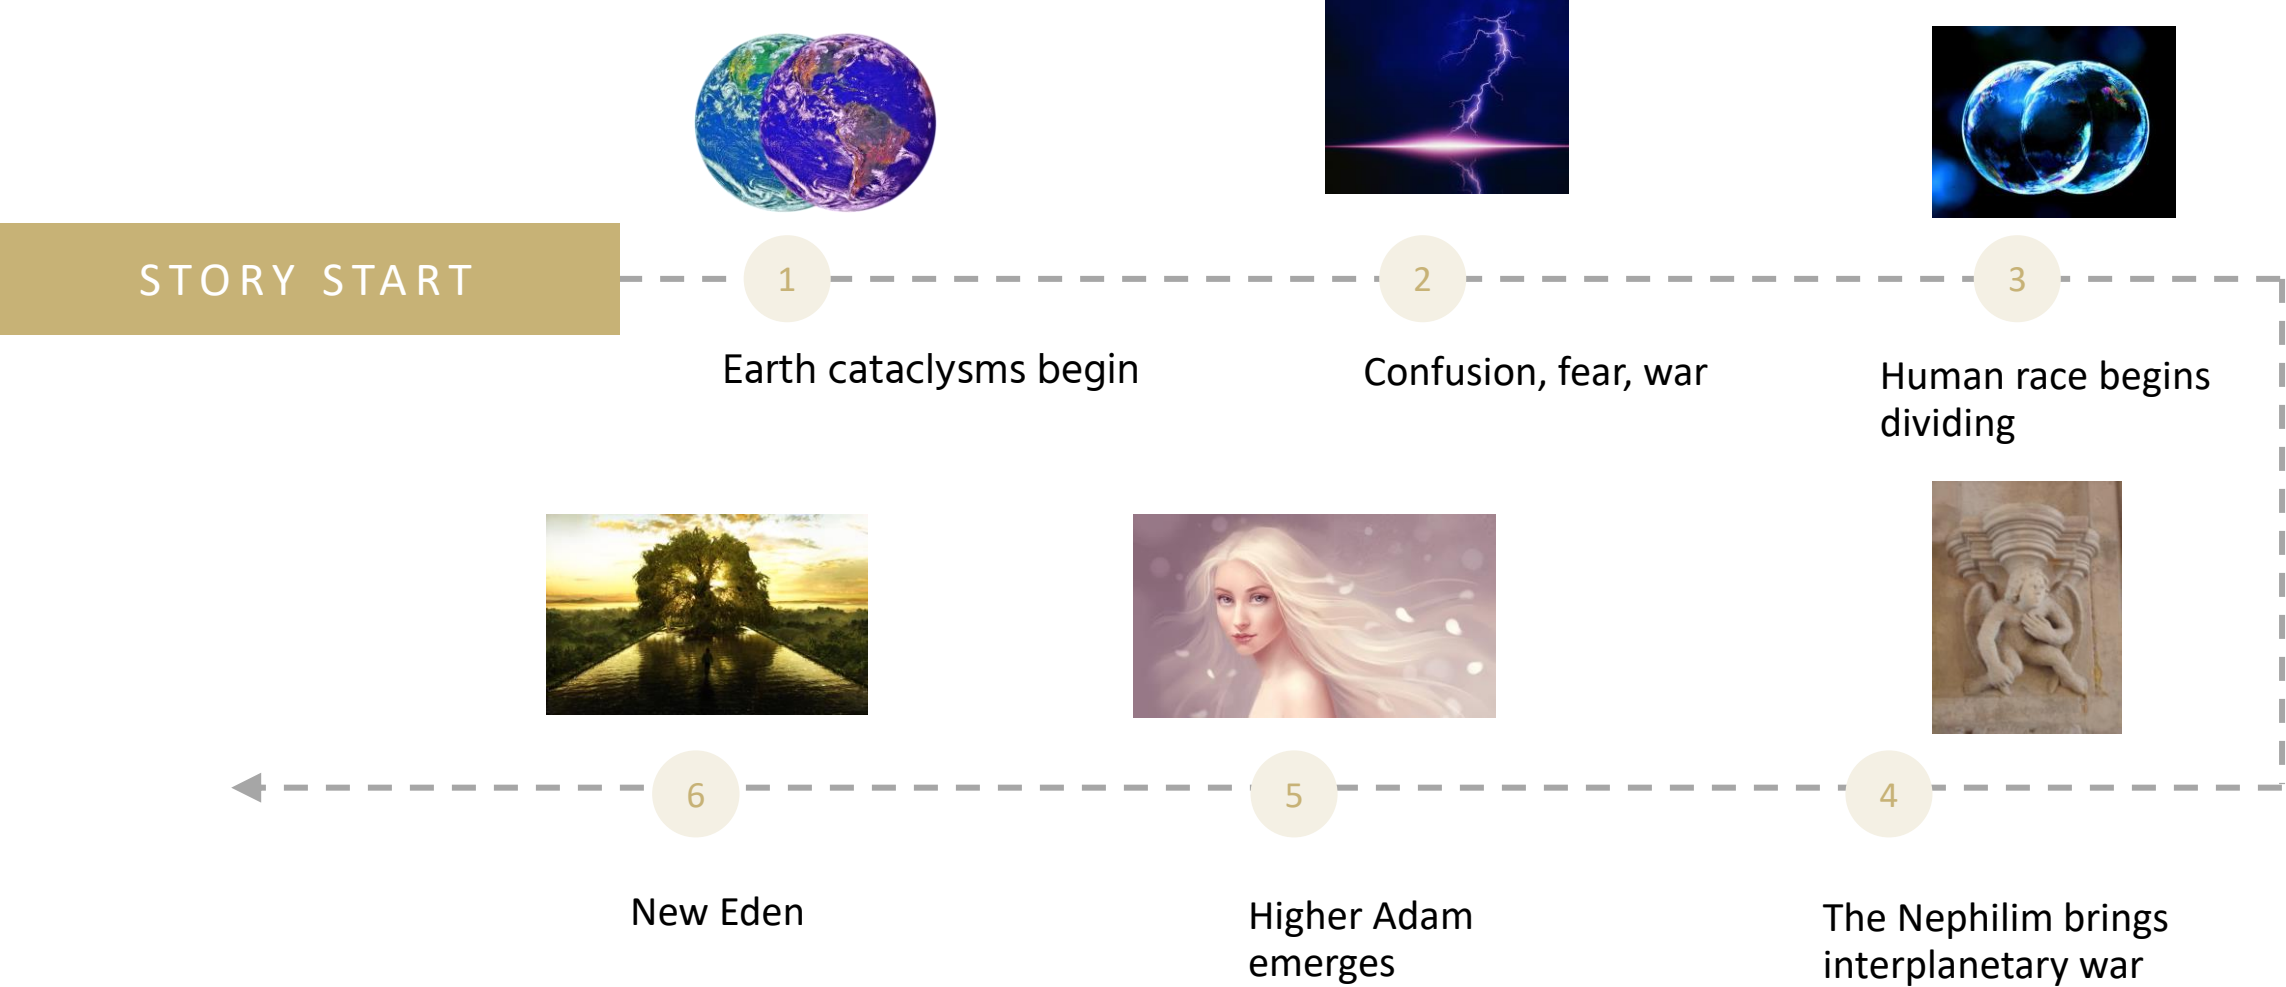

Riker's team of heroes invent and deploy defensive weapons that don't harm their own soul. They also invent a new sustainable form of energy that will keep the higher Earth light and warm during its million-year journey to its paradisiacal home.

The veil between the dead and the living thins, and the window opens between worlds. The purpose of mortal life falls onto the viewer without the church and without the guilt.

The final battles nearly destroys the world, but the human race continues to survive the worst the Nephilim can deliver. New Eden forms in the light of the higher Earth on its way home, through the rift in Milky way.

President Robert Riker (Dean Cain)

- He is a widower following a dream of running for president. A successful engineer, he designs his entire campaign on social media.
- The two mainstream nominees end up fist fighting on stage in front of the whole world. Americans turn to Riker and elect him as a write-in. The Syndicate is furious and tries to kill him, but an ancient sect inside the Secret Service steps forward to save him.
- He becomes the leader of the New Earth.

Bett Dyson (Alicia Vikander)

She has the youth, screen presence, and slick and simple beauty to play Bett Dyson. She is strong, antagonistic, brave, and smart.

This part was written for her. Although this is the first time Alicia would be cast in a TV series, she should enjoy the 3-season career path on the small screen. The audience will love her and fear her.

Secret Service Agent Smith (Noah Centino)

He is the strong, quick, and smart combat veteran Agent Mike Smith. He is the antagonist to Bett Dyson. After taking a bullet for her at the Battle of Camp David, they fall in love and become the most powerful force for the Riker Team of heroes.

Richard Daring

(Timothée Châlame)

MAIN CHARACTER

After losing an eye in a racing accident, he becomes a world famous street racer. Building a multi-million dollar empire of online street racing gambling, he escapes Pasadena and runs right into President Riker's team.

He and his sidekick, Kyle Kramer, save the team, and later the world from destruction. He races cars and flies jets into space, but his cool and deep philosophy grabs the audience, and they watch for the next time he opens his mouth.

Shelly LaSalle (Melissa Seitz)

MAIN CHARACTER

An up and coming news anchor, Shelly loses her job after trying to interview a drunken mayor on live camera. She gets transferred to a traffic helicopter, but someone very high up is watching over her.

Shelly becomes the voice of the new Earth as the President's spokesperson over global radio.

Kyle Kramer (Mitch Green)

MAIN CHARACTER

A super-hacker, he is an anon, and the master sidekick of Richard Daring.

Time after time his computer and science skills save the team from certain death.

A little autistic, but loyal and deep.

Abdulla Bayazed (Narciso Tovar)

- He is a former Iranian oil tycoon who escaped execution with his two sons and wife. He buys the LA Times. He mentors Shelly LaSalle and sends his son Orphan on a mission to guard her.
- He is a powerful voice of the new Earth.

Ezzat Hadid (Ethan Thompson)

Smooth and deadly, he is the secret service agent who belongs to an ancient sect of priests who watch for the chosen one among the leaders of the world. He sees President Riker as the leader of the New Earth.

His lessons permeate the story and offer deep spiritual truths.

Lorrain (Ethan Thompson)

After long consideration, President Riker chooses her to manage his team of unique talents. She is a trained Druid and a master at connecting with the true intent of people in her proximity.

Her ability to touch and to express the heart brings the audience in touch with the deep spiritual concepts of this film. Her soul connection to Riker and with Kramer is powerful enough to love everyone who sees it.

OTHER CHARACTERS

Boris Domashev

Former head of the Soviet Energy Bureau in space weapons program. Plots a nuclear attack to destroy Mecca with surprise ending.

Katie

An antinuclear activist who meets Dick when he drives Kyle to his invitation at Oak Ridge National Labs to share his new technology. Their relationship starts off with a 200 mile-per-hour chase to free her from FBI custody.

Rhino

Tautulu Leti Taule'alo is a descendant of Samoan royalty. He becomes the #1 draft pick for running back when he is hit by a car that ends his career. He chooses planetary core geology and discovers Earth is about to come apart.

PILOT

Planet Earth is a living thing the ancients believed has a symbiotic relationship with humans. President Riker becomes the unwitting leader of the new Earth when he becomes a write-in winner after the two wealthy candidates get in a fist fight during a televised debate.

The cataclysms are real and epic. The human race begins to divide according to their soul frequency. War erupts, angels are in command, and heroes are forged from adversity.

tone

Beath needs great CGI to get the planetary upheavals and destructive lighting to create the atmosphere. The battle scenes range from the conventional to the spectacular, similar to those in Agents of Shield.

Site R and Cheyenne Mountain are vast underground military facilities that align with the secret deep state that is connected to nearly every major headline in the world today.

The deep spiritual tones deliver powerful messages of the eternal age and power of the human soul contrasted with the ageless evil of fallen angels.

Humans and angels go to war. No TV series has covered the Rapture from this point of view.

Bearth is a narrative that better helped me understand my own spiritual leanings spelled out in such an enlightening way. It just felt right as I frantically read (since I had a hard time putting the book down!) What a ride. Can't hardly wait for the movie.
